Dentrix: Watch Efficiency Soar With One System

Struggling with different software systems for daily practice tasks? Dentrix is a single practice management system that can manage a host of dental office operations

Scene 1: A day in the life of a chaotic dental practice: Phones are ringing off the hook for appointments; office staff is trying to call patients to remind them of their appointments but they are stuck on the phones with insurance providers; the rest of the office staff is busily scurrying around trying to organize patient copays and bills.

Chances are, this office is using a variety of computer and software systems that don't "talk" to each other. When dental technology doesn't work together, it presents a drain on practice efficiency. Dentrix practice management software can integrate multiple office tasks, freeing up valuable time, which can instead be spent on patient care and practice growth.

"The more efficient you are with your software, the more time you have for your patients, and the happier they are going to be because your staff is not bogged down with the insanity of poor communications caused by software issues," explained Todd Sarubin, DDS, Pikesville, MD, who has been using Dentrix in his practice since 2014.

One-Stop Shop for Efficiency

Designed by Henry Schein One, Dentrix can streamline and automate daily tasks, improve data flow and communication, and integrate more of your software solutions so they can work together as one system.

Dr. Sarubin has seen a significant improvement in his clinical workflow as a direct result of using Dentrix. "Workflow is faster, notes are easier, referring back to previous treatment is a breeze, and transferring records for referrals is a snap," he explains.

Dr. Sarubin has found that Dentrix "listens to their users" in determining how to improve and update their software. "The best part of the system is the ability to create metrics to analyze the practice and improve the areas that are lacking," Dr. Sarubin added.

In addition, Dentrix users can rely on a comprehensive technical support team from Henry Schein One, the leader in providing integrated software solutions and services for the dental industry.
